In June 2015, Defendant Corey Thompson filed two habeas corpus motions under 28 U.S.C. § 2255. Judge Pro had previously denied a § 2255 motion in December 2013. The Court denied the June 2015 motions, noting that he required the Court of Appeals's permission to file a successive motion under § 2255(h). Defendant appealed that order. The Court of Appeals remanded for the limited purpose of a ruling on a certificate of appealability. The Court denied a certificate of appealability. The Court of Appeals has now ordered the appeal held in abeyance until this Court rules on Defendant's request to reopen the time to appeal. That is, in the untimely Notice of Appeal, Defendant claims that he did not receive a copy of this Court's order denying his § 2255 motions and only became aware of the order when he wrote the Court to inquire as to the status of those motions.
